The Annual Spring Fine Arts
Exhibition at Hollywood High School features drawing, painting, photography and printmaking by student artists.

Students in Drawing and Painting classes led by Nicole Rose Gelormino have self-curated artworks in a range of media. Through sustained exploration in painting, drawing, collage, sculpture, printmaking and photography, young artists have honed representational skills, refined individual visual language, related stories and engaged the magical process of meaning-making.

Some nuanced and delicate, others bold and dynamic, the works of Hollywood High School's Spring Exhibition speak to the desires, concerns and sentiments of their makers. Every whisper and rage conveys the complexity of what it means to a teen in the 2020s.
